

References:

- 1). Mapping the Childhood Obesity Epidemic: A Geographic Profile of the Predicted Risk for Childhood Obesity in Communities Across the United States; The Urban Institute; <http://www.urban.org/publications/411773.html>
- 2). General information on Food Guide Pyramid (now referred to as MyPyramid);
<http://www.mypyramid.gov>
- 3). A comprehensive listing of all the resources available through Team Nutrition to schools and child care facilities that participate in the Federal Child Nutrition Programs. This site also has downloadable materials for the general public on nutrition and activities.
<http://usda.gov/library.html>
- 4). Team Up at Home: Team Nutrition Activity Booklet
This is a collection of hands-on nutrition education activities for parents to use with their school-age children. This 36-page activity booklet is in a reproducible format for classroom and community use.
<http://teamnutrition.usda.gov/Resources/teamupbooklet.html>
- 5). 4-H Curriculum: Resources for 4-H After School Nutrition Programs
http://www.4-hcurriculum.org/documents/09Curriculum_OrderForm.pdf
- 6). Action for Healthy Kids Connecticut
http://www.actionforhealthykids.org/state_profile.php?state=CT
Healthy Snack Recipes
http://www.actionforhealthykids.org/Recharge/pdf/Healthy_After-school_Snack_Recipes.pdf
- 7). USDA After School Providers 4 week Cycle Menus for both limited kitchen and full kitchen facilities.
http://www.fns.usda.gov/cnd/CARE/Regs-Policy/Snacks/Cycle_Menu.htm
- 8). Jump Into Foods and Fitness: 4-H Curriculum from Michigan State University
<http://web1.msue.msu.edu/4h/jiff/>